Sara Sunstein, M.A., Registered Advanced Instructor of Ortho-Bionomy®, is praised for her warmth, expertise, and clarity. She maintains a practice in Berkeley, helping people feel better, learn about, and befriend their bodies.

It's not difficult to learn Ortho-Bionomy® techniques, however, embodying Ortho-Bionomy® is what creates a Practitioner. Have you learned through your months of training and practice how to be Ortho-Bionomy®? How to live Ortho-Bionomy®? What would this mean and feel like?

We'll explore these questions throughout the seminar via exercises, discussion, and sharing about challenges, moments of ease, total confusion, and so on in our work.

We'll also look into those nitty gritty bits of practice like setting fees, record-keeping, communicating with clients, when/how to "fire" them, whether/how to encourage them to return, and working with ongoing clients. Another interesting topic is what to do during a session when you don't have a clue what to do next!

Then, there's also the topic of transitioning from student to Practitioner, from learner to so-called authority in the eyes of your clients and perhaps community. What's all that about, both internally and externally?

This 16-hour class will cover:

- What it means to embody Ortho-Bionomy® as a Practitioner
- Communicating with clients in difficult situations
- How to "show up" even when we don't want to
- Trainees' questions not yet addressed by the instructor

This class meets SOBI requirements for Practitioner Training Seminar.
